4. Diplômes, formation, expérience sportive / Diplomas, education, sport experience / Diplomas, formación, experiencia deportiva:

As a fencer, Greg is a three-time Olympian (1980, 1984, 1988) who continued to be a key influencer in international fencing after his retirement from competition, both as a referee at the 1996 Olympic Games and as one of the most successful Olympic coaches in USA Fencing history.

In 1998, Greg started the Massialas Foundation (MTEAM) with the goal of developing the champion that exists inside every fencer and earning his Matire D'Armes from the French Fencing Federation in 2000. Greg began his program from scratch, only teaching young beginner fencers, and in less than 10 years he developed his first Olympian – Gerek Meinhardt who qualified for his first Olympic Games in 2008 at just 18 years old. Gerek would go on to make history as the first U.S. man to win an individual medal at the Senior World Championships with a bronze in 2010 – a feat he would repeat in 2015. Massialas's son, Alexander, would continue the family fencing legacy as well, winning individual titles at the Cadet (2010 and 2011) and Junior (2013) World Championships while also making a name for himself on the Senior World Cup circuit where he earned his first World Cup medal as a 17 year old in Seoul before qualifying for the Olympic Games at the young age of 18 – just two years after winning silver at the Youth Olympic Games.

At the 2012 Olympic Games in London, three of the eight fencers on the U.S. Men's and Women's Foil Teams were Greg's students as Gerek and Alex were joined by Doris Willette on the women's team.

Less than a year after being named as the U.S. Men's Foil National Team Coach, Greg led Team USA to a fourth place finish at the London Olympic Games. That result would be the catalyst for the team's success over the next four years as the U.S. Men's Foil Team won its first medal at the Senior World Championships in 2013 with a silver, just days after Miles Chamley-Watson won gold as the first U.S. man ever to win an individual Senior World title. The win came on the heels of Team USA's most successful season in which the Americans won gold or silver in every tournament they entered and ended the year as the Overall World Cup Champions.

Between 2014 and 2016, the U.S. Men's Foil Team athletes reached the highest levels of the rankings as Gerek Meinhardt became the first U.S. foil fencer to reach the No. 1 world ranking. Race Imboden would match the feat in 2015 and follow by becoming the first U.S. man to win the Overall World Cup title in any weapon. At the 2015 Senior Worlds, Alexander Massialas and Gerek Meinhardt both reached the podium, winning silver and bronze, respectively – the first time in history two U.S. men have won individual medals at the Senior Worlds.

In November, Alexander earned the No. 1 world ranking for the first time following his gold medal win at the Tokyo World Cup. He would go on to win a silver medal at the Olympic Games in Rio – the best finish for a U.S. men's foil fencer since the 1932 Games. Team USA won a bronze medal in Rio as well, ending an 84-year drought for the Americans in the event.

Under Coach Massialas's tutelage, the U.S. men's foil program has grown at all levels. While his personal students have won a total of 34 medals, including 12 gold at the Senior, Junior and Cadet World Championships, the U.S. Men's Foil Team reached a new level in 2016 when Team USA ended the 2015-16 season holding the Overall World Cup titles in the individual and team categories at the senior level as well as the team junior title.
