- Travelers need to show their negative result to the airline before boarding their flight to Korea. You will not be allowed to board their flight if you don't have a valid pre-departure negative test result. Effective July 15, 2021, this applies to Korean nationals as well as foreign nationals.
- Exceptions apply to children under the age of 6 at the time of arrival (provided that all accompanying persons traveling with the child have pre-departure negative test results) and travelers who have quarantine exemption certificates for funeral attendance, etc. (Refer to Q14)
- O If the pre-departure test result submitted is found to be invalid (i.e., does not meet all the requirements), the traveler will be placed in a temporary quarantine facility for 5 days (Quarantine fee to be charged: KRW 600,000 or KRW120,000/day), followed by 2 days of home quarantine. In the case of seaports, disembarking will be prohibited for all sailors on board.
- A person who fails to cooperate with the request for negative pre-departure test result or submits a falsified document may face legal ramifications in accordance with the Quarantine Act.
- Note: Korean nationals with quarantine exemption certificates who fail to submit valid pre-departure negative test results will have their quarantine exemption invalidated even if they have been vaccinated outside of Korea, and they will be quarantined at a facility (quarantine fees will be charged).

16. What are measures taken if foreigner does not have or has "Negative PCR COVID-19 test result" that falls short of the necessary requisite?

- Travelers need to show their negative result to the airline before boarding their flight to Korea. Travelers without a valid negative pre-departure test result in possession will not be allowed to board their flight. If the test result submitted is found to be invalid, the traveler will be denied entry to the Republic of Korea. In the case of seaports, disembarking will be prohibited for all sailors.
- Foreign nationals who have been vaccinated in the Republic of Korea will still need to show a valid pre-departure negative test result to be allowed to board their flight.
- Exceptions apply to travelers who departed from Korea to another country but were denied entry to the destination country or otherwise did not go through the entry procedure before returning to Korea; in such cases, they will be able to board the return flight without a pre-departure test result. The burden of proof is on the traveling individual.

- ※ In the case of foreign nationals (long-term and short-term visas) with quarantine exemption certificates, they will not be allowed to enter Korea without a valid pre-departure test result, even if they have been vaccinated overseas.
- Anyone who fails to cooperate with requests for pre-departure negative test results or submits falsified document may face legal ramifications in accordance with the Quarantine Act, including but not limited to an order of deportation.

17. What happens if my negative PCR test result "expires" (i.e. more than 48 hours elapses since sample colleted date from JAN 20. 2022) due to a delay in the flight?

- O If departure is delayed due to reasons such as bad weather conditions or aircraft failure causing the pre-departure test result to be more than 48 hours old upon arrival, the test result will be considered valid if the delay can be verified by the head of the mode of transportation (e.g., airline, shipping company). The burden of proof is on the traveling individual.
- 18. What are the required documents and entry procedures for targets recovered from COVID-19 who are allowed on flights to Korea without a negative PCR test result?
- (Target) Korean citizens who tested positive within "10 to 40 days" as of 00:00 of the departure date and completed isolation (excluding persons with symptoms including fever of over 37.5°C)
- (Required documents) Documents that can prove the "infection date" (or isolation start date) issued by the health authorities or medical institution/clinical laboratory.
- (Infection date) Whether the infection (or isolation due to infection) was within "10 to 40 days" from the departure date.
